FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK:

Dear friends:

CONFERENCE TIME – JUNE 19-21, 2015

We could not have a conference last year due to some unforeseen circumstance, but this year it's on! Book your motel room on Thursday, June 18th, get a good night's sleep and be ready for the 19th of June. We will be announcing who the speakers will be in upcoming newsletters, but do go ahead and make preparation for this conference. There will be some surprises as far as the speakers which should be most interesting, but we will have a great time in fellowship with our fellow kinsmen of Israel.

Do note that we will need musical talent in instrumentation and singing. So do pray about this and let us know, because you are needed and wanted.

A NEW YEAR PERSPECTIVE

I do most sincerely wish you all a happy 2015 year. So much can be written and said about 2014, and I'm sure much will be said about 2015 when it is said and done. But of most interest to you and I who believe and follow God's Word as the Lord Jesus Christ directs us, is the fact that time is not sacred. What is sacred is the Lord Jesus Christ and His Word, and what may come in 2015 is in His Divine special Providential Purposes.

The media, government, politicians, bankers, and people in general, will be mostly the same way they have been since the beginning of time with their comings and goings. The point of change comes when they wake-up to the fact that the Kingdom of God is coming. They may think that they are here on earth to just play political chess, but they are in for a big surprise. All their human efforts will come to a sudden stop, where-upon, they will clearly realize that all their works have been misdirected fleshly endeavors.

They must come to the understanding that they are part of a greater purpose. A greater Biblical purpose they have yet to comprehend. That Purpose being that of the Kingdom of God on earth as it is in Heaven. They, at present, do not seek His (Christ's) daily bread, or even crumbs from the Divine table, but it is certain, there will be wailing and gnashing of teeth. Yet the saying, "to whom much is given, much will be required," also applies to them, for they have been given much, and they have vainly dispossessed the moral ground they should have taken. Thus Divine correction will most surely happen, and the time we are now spending watching the "wicked" do their thing, will be turned on them. Then we, to whom much Biblical Righteous Knowledge has been given, will be given the opportunity to shine as the stars of the Heaven in a most holy righteous Christ honoring way. The Kingdom of God will truly become that city upon a Hill shining forth righteousness and truth. The glory of which cannot be fully told, but that blessed HOPE is very much alive in our hearts. Happy 2015.

In Christ, our Blessed Hope,

Pastor Dave Barley

Tithes and Offerings note:

First a big thank you to those of you who have helped America's Promise Ministries financially this past 2014. As you well know, we get no tax breaks, or government help whatsoever. You good people are our only sources of financial help, and we do so thank you, for we know that without your help, we most likely would not be able to keep going. Our main purpose certainly is to preach and proclaim as best we can the Gospel of the Kingdom according to the Biblical Plan as conferred upon the Christian Israel Covenant Family of Israel.

We know and are ever mindful of the fact that without you, our dedicated and generous Christian supporters, these type of publication, CD's, DVD's, printed material, and a host a various other spiritual and Kingdom related services would not be possible. Much thought and prayers go into each aspect of this ministry, and we humbly and with thankful hearts appreciate all of you and the contributions you make toward this ministry.

COME OUT OF JUDEO-CHRISTIANITY AND MULTICULTURALISM

by Pastor Dave Barley

I will try to word the following as nicely as I can, but the reality of our present national situation is that the time for pretending our nation can keep going in a coexist multicultural format must stop. We are being lied to in and through Judeo-Christian wording and concepts that are pure deception. We often hear, "well I don't want to rock the boat or ruffle anyone's feathers," and this in many ways has been the problem. There is probably no greater illustration of the present situation we face as a people and as a nation than the lie of Judeo-Christianity which I shall try to make abundantly clear to you in this article. Let us begin with the race issue.

The Word of God absolutely deals with and pertains to race, that is, the White, Anglo-Saxon, Scandinavian, Germanic, and kindred people. In today's era of multiculturalism comfortability, to claim that the Bible is not multicultural and does not endorse race mixing, pluralism, homosexuality, paganism, open borders, or basically any form of antinomianism (meaning any form of anti-Bible law), would appear insane and woefully out of date. Well, though it is woefully out of date and politically-incorrect to believe that the Bible teaches against such things, it certainly does. This must be thoroughly understood, believed, and taught with a greater fervor.

THE WORD "TRIBE"

Christians, we have a Biblical duty to stand for Bible Truth, which includes having a Biblical Israelite tribal family cohesiveness. Remember we originally were twelve-tribes of Adamic Israelites. The word “tribe” in Hebrew means: “rod, staff, or tribe”. The Bible word “tribe” literally means being joined to God’s Law Word. That we (the Adamic Israel people) are quite literally and figuratively tied to God’s Law, and that we are to be an extension or staff of His Law. This is what the New Covenant is all about, it is about Jesus Christ writing His Law within the heart or mind of His people Israel. Hebrew 8:8-10 tell us:

8 For finding fault with them, he saith, Behold, the days come, saith the Lord, when I will make a new covenant with the house of Israel and with the house of Judah:

9 Not according to the covenant that I made with their fathers in the day when I took them by the hand to lead them out of the land of Egypt; because they continued not in my covenant, and I regarded them not, saith the Lord.

10 For this is the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel after those days, saith the Lord; I will put my laws into their mind, and write them in their hearts: and I will be to them a God, and they shall be to me a people:

First of all this may be a point understood by most of the readers, but the only people being addressed in these verses of the New Covenant are the people of Israel. Secondly, note that God’s Law and His Covenant people go hand in hand. In other words, and I want you to understand this, that the people of Israel and the Laws of God go together. If you could somehow remove God’s Covenant people Israel, you in essence would also be removing God’s Laws. We see this visibly in the world among us, that wherever God’s people (White Israelite leadership) is removed, the very semblance or measure, no matter how watered down it may be, of God’s Divine Principles will not last very long.

Righteousness exalts a nation, which means, the righteousness of God's law is how things are to be defined and resolved. Righteousness is not produced from man's carnal-mind or thoughts, it is the result of man (Adamic-Covenant-Israelite man) obeying the righteous principles of God's Word.

Adamic Caucasian Covenant Israelite man is the God ordained, purposed, covenanted people to carry out national and even international "garden of Eden" restoration through the leading of the Holy Spirit direction of King Jesus Christ and His New Covenant. In other words, God Almighty did not make a mistake in choosing Adamic Israel to be His Covenant people. We are the seed of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob who have God's Word written upon our hearts by the power of the Holy Spirit through Jesus Christ who is the author and finisher of our faith. We will fulfill our calling and purpose because we have God's Word upon us. When or how is up to Him, but please read the following verses, because no matter how scattered, multiculturalized, or paganized we may be, God's Word will not return void:

GOD KNOWLEDGE

Hosea 6:1-6

<sup>1</sup> Come, and let us return unto the LORD: for he hath torn, and he will heal us; he hath smitten, and he will bind us up.

<sup>2</sup> After two days will he revive us: in the third day he will raise us up, and we shall live in his sight.

<sup>3</sup> Then shall we know, if we follow on to know the LORD: his going forth is prepared as the morning; and he shall come unto us as the rain, as the latter and former rain unto the earth.

<sup>4</sup> O Ephraim (the Northern House of Israel), what shall I do unto thee? O Judah (the Southern Kingdom of Judah), what shall I do unto thee? for your goodness is as a morning cloud, and as the early dew it goeth away.

<sup>5</sup> Therefore have I hewed them by the prophets; I have slain them by the words of my mouth: and thy judgments are as the light that goeth forth.

6 For I desired mercy, and not sacrifice; and the knowledge of God more than burnt offerings.

What is God's Purpose for His Covenant People? To teach and impart God knowledge as verse 6 declares, but not to pagan heathen people or their territories. The whole book of Hosea is about God's relationship with Israel. It's about Biblical HOPE, that Israel, after their period of judgment, would again know that they were God's Covenant People and that He loves them.

God Knowledge is not for awakening the world, but the world of Adamic Israel. Does anyone really think for instance that we can go over to the dark areas of Africa, impart God's Word to them, and they or the Chinese, or the Hindus will ever fulfill what God has called His Adamic Israel people to do? Only in Judeo-Christianity or Spiritual-Israel fantasy land.

JONES-TOWN NIGHTMARE

The reason Israel is not awakening is because they are being lied to and they are still sipping on the Jones-town Kool-Aid. Do you remember the sad but true story of a Dr. Jones? Jim Jones was a Spiritual-Israel proponent. Quite literally, and the history of Jones-town will verify the fact that Jim Jones was originally seen helping minorities and working against racism. A movie was made about this tragedy back in the 80's called Guyana Tragedy: The Story of Jim Jones. The tragedy is about how Jim Jones rose to power among his followers, moving his church to the Philippines, I'm sorry, I meant, from San Francisco to Guyana, where eventually, he presided over the mass murder/suicide of hundreds of his followers in the drinking of poisoned Kool-Aid. Jim Jones was a huge proponent of multiculturalism, and it is the real Kool-Aid he was feeding his followers.

THE RESULT OF MULTICULTURALISM

The truth presented in Hebrews 8:8-10, is that God's Covenant Israel people and the Laws of God are both deemed and redeemed for the Divine Purpose of Restoration. If you separate the Law from the Covenant People you have no restoration. America, Britain, Canada, Europe, Australia, and other Caucasian kindred nations do not and cannot have restoration without both the Covenant People (Israel) and the Laws of God upon their heart or mind. If you try to remove and replace God's people with another race of people, and/or mixed multitudes trying to have restorative results, you are violating God's Old and New Covenant Purposes and His Laws of separation. The results will be Judeo-Christian multiculturalism, where His Law is diminished and His Word perverted.

When the Word of God says, “Righteousness exalteth a nation: but sin is a reproach to any people.” Proverbs 14:34 The word “people” literally means “nation” and its context clearly appoints the word “nation” to Israel. The Word of God does not happenstancely speak of Israel for they are the directed purpose of God's Covenant Word. No other people are the directed purpose of God's Word.

THE JEWISH DILEMNA

Judeo-Christianity would have Christians falsely directed to the Jews as being God's Covenant People, and that if you bless the Jews (the Edomites and Khazars) as John Hagee and his cohorts admonish people to do, then you are following “the great commission”. This of course is patently false, and without getting into great detail, it is false simply based upon the fact that Christians are to have no fellowship with antichristism (Judaism/Talmudism).

THE GREAT COMMISSION

What is the so called great commission? It would be best described in the following verses:

Acts 3:25-26

25 Ye are the children of the prophets, and of the covenant which God made with our fathers, saying unto Abraham, And in thy seed shall all the kindreds of the earth be blessed.

26 Unto you first God, having raised up his Son Jesus, sent him to bless you, in turning away every one of you from his iniquities.

Many of you will no doubt notice the words “Unto you first”, believing this is a good opportunity to call my attention to your understanding that this would mean “unto Israel first and then the rest of the world.” But this is not the correct interpretation at all. “Unto you first” simply means unto you Jews (or Judeans) has He (Jesus) come first unto, then unto the rest of the dispersion of the House of Israel. The very people of the Abrahamic Covenant, the very people God Almighty gave His laws unto, the very people Jesus Christ came to redeem and turn away from their iniquities, for it is unto them He hath given His laws and therefore the burden of sin is upon Israel. The laws of God were not given in a marriage Covenant unto any other people.

Thus when we read in verse 26, “...every one of you (Israelites) from his iniquities”, and verse 25 states, “...in thy seed shall all the kindred of the earth be blessed”, does not mean all races of the earth shall be blessed. It means all thy kindred of the earth shall be blessed. The word “kindred” is the Greek word “partria” which literally means “family, kindred, or lineage.” As much missionary work there has been over the centuries to all kinds of people, when the White man leaves, his Christian faith leaves with him. The blessing is and has mostly been upon White Adamic kindred people and nations.

Can you truly say lasting blessings have been upon Africa, India, Mexico, South America, China, and so forth, apart from pockets of corrupt banking-money which is superficial, but more pertinent to our conversation, Christianity, that generally does not last when the White man and his missionary money leaves? Think about Ferguson, or other similar areas, then think about dark Africa. Where would they be without a certain amount of White leadership or control? Certainly the Obama administration is pouring money into Africa, and you can point to areas of “prosperity,” however, this is not Christianity, and without the White man and the Bible, there will be sinking sand foundations. You may say, why that's "racist thinking" to which I would respond, "Yes, you are correct."

Some of you may say, "Pastor Barley, you seem to have changed some of your previous Biblical views," to which I would respond, "Yes, I have changed a few of my formally wrong opinions, because they were just that, opinions. What I did was stop drinking the jones-town type of Kool-Aid, and started reading and drinking the Word of God for what it truly does declare."

THE TREE OF THE KNOWLEDGE OF GOOD AND EVIL IS THE SAME AS JUDEO-CHRISTIANITY

Which brings me to my next subject, Judeo-Christianity and the tree of the knowledge of good and evil. God told Adam and Eve not to partake of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil. They, of course, did not listen and the fall of Adamic man occurred. That fall was the result of disobedience is without question, but the understanding of what this forbidden tree is, that is the question. The tree was the knowledge of good and evil, implying that such a tree held both "good and evil." Judeo-Christianity is both good and evil knowledge, celebrated today in most churches as true Christianity, but is in fact a lie.

As we should all be aware, Judaism is not simply old Covenant worship or belief. Judaism (Judeo) is Babylonian Talmudism. Please feel free to fully research this subject matter out all you wish with whatever resources you can access. You will soon discover that what I am telling you is the absolute fact. Judaism is antichristism or Talmudism and is not merely Old Testament worship or values promoted in Synagogues. In fact, the Babylonian Talmud, is a vast collection of many volumes of books which are heavily inspired by the Kabbalah (so called hidden traditions of the elders, which are not of Yahweh, but are of pagan origin). Modern efforts by Jewish sources do their best to depict the Talmud's critics as "anti-Semitic," but that is mere Jewish tactics. The real point that they cannot ignore, and that is indefensible, is the fact that Talmudic Jews and their religion of Judaism is absolutely anti Jesus Christ. Christians should never attach the term "Judeo" to Christianity and it's about time this dichotic relationship is fully tried, convicted, and sentenced to death.

Judeo-Christianity does worship and lift up the Lord Jesus Christ to which many would say absolutely and we should applaud them for this. But the Word of God also warns Christians that there will come those who will say "Lord, Lord," and pervert His Word in a host of worldly endeavors. To list a few, we find:

- Red Santa Claus Christmas
- Easter-egg Ashtroth merriment
- The joy of the Tooth Fairy
- Halloween
- Race-mixing or miscegenation
- Homosexual tolerance
- Multiculturalism open-mindedness
- Judaism unquestionability
- Political-correctness
- The Rapture
- That all races descended from Noah's family after the flood.
- The eternal burning hell...and so forth

Matthew 7:13-23

<sup>13</sup> Enter ye in at the strait gate: for wide is the gate, and broad is the way, that leadeth to destruction, and many there be which go in thereat:

<sup>14</sup> Because strait is the gate, and narrow is the way, which leadeth unto life, and few there be that find it.

<sup>15</sup> Beware of false prophets, which come to you in sheep's clothing, but inwardly they are ravening wolves.

17 Even so every good tree bringeth forth good fruit; but a corrupt tree bringeth forth evil fruit.

18 A good tree cannot bring forth evil fruit, neither can a corrupt tree bring forth good fruit.

19 Every tree that bringeth not forth good fruit is hewn down, and cast into the fire.

20 Wherefore by their fruits ye shall know them.

21 Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven.

22 Many will say to me in that day, Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied in thy name? and in thy name have cast out devils? and in thy name done many wonderful works?

23 And then will I profess unto them, I never knew you: depart from me, ye that work iniquity.

IN CONCLUSION

† We are not at the point of no return. We are at the point of “turn” which means repent. We are not at the point of there is nothing we can do. We are at the point of pray, tell the truth, and be about our Heavenly Father’s business.

Common sense is not a gift. It’s a punishment because you have to deal with everyone who doesn’t have it!

The Heart of the World Bleeds for the Master Race

By Michael Hoffman

Today the heart of the world bleeds;
Indeed, it wears its heart on its sleeve,
It seems that four rabbis could not flee
The bullets of Palestinian terrorists you see,
Pogrom! Holocaust! Headlines! Weeping!

Twenty years ago in Hebron it had not at all been so,
A settler from Brooklyn, Goldstein by name
With his machine gun in a mosque blasted to and fro,
Butchering 40 Palestinians, he earned his fame,
He wore a yellow star, victimhood was his claim.

The media slashed the death toll to 29
And mourned the dead for a few seconds,
Then turned toward their perpetual shrine: Auschwitz crime.
Four dead rabbis, Jerusalem synagogue, November 2014,
Forty dead Palestinians, Hebron mosque, February 1994.
No equivalence between the two, decrees the media whore,
Jews are Jews, and Arabs, well, who wouldn't shoot a goy?
FOX News O'Reilly and the Murdoch gang
Speak of Israeli rights to avenge: that's their supremacist ploy,
They're amnesiacs when it comes to rights of retribution by the Arab boy,

2100 Palestinians murdered this year alone,
East Jerusalem auctioned by "holy" real estate dealers,
Goldstein's heirs stripping Arab land to the bone

The never-factored crimes of the Talmudic stealers,
Their thefts modulated to the lowest possible tone,
As Palestinians are shot, jailed, robbed and reduced to stone;
When they resist, the western world starts screamin',
Popes and Presidents cry crocodile tears,
How dare Arabs obstruct faux Israel's dreamin'?
There's no real concern for Palestinians' fears
Of being killed at will and without a trace, while
The heart of the world bleeds for the Master Race.

Editor's note: The Jerusalem synagogue where the terror attack occurred is on the site of the Palestinian village of Deir Yassin, which was obliterated by Israeli members of the "Irgun" terror army in 1948. More than a hundred Palestinian men, women and children were systematically murdered and the village itself was razed, leaving little trace of it today. We're supposed to never forget the Nazi "Holocaust," but the media routinely forget the holocausts committed by counterfeit "Israel." All we are encouraged to remember is what has been done to the Judaics, and seldom are we reminded of what they did to the people who rise up to resist them. The forgotten village of Deir Yassin is a case in point.

Christian Economics

By Matthew Luckey

The entire theory of Christian economics is very simple. In fact, it can be completely summed up in a single sentence:

THOU SHALL NOT STEAL

This prohibition is, in total, Christian economics. All the stacks of immense texts by the likes of David Ricardo, Adam Smith, Ludwig Von Mises, Friedrich Hayek, and Milton Friedman are unnecessary. Just don't steal what another has produced. In all that you do, don't steal! This rule is sufficient for man's economic affairs. If the works of man have become so complicated that they appear to have outstripped this simple principle, it is not God who has become irrelevant or obsolete to man's affairs. It is man who has rendered himself irrelevant to God and to mankind as well. God's Law is also a limit to man's tendency toward social complexity to conceal his sins.

The reason non-Christian economics is so complex, so esoteric, and elitist; the reason why there exists libraries of dense volumes by the likes of Ricardo, Smith, von Mises, Hayek, and Friedman, is for no other reason than to get around God's Law:

Thou Shall Not Steal.

Man has spent the last several thousand years – since the Commandments were first delivered – putting all of his economic efforts into figuring out ways to either nullify God's Law or exempt himself from part of it, and still be “of the People of God.” This subversion is the essence and soul of non-Christian economics. Properly speaking, since it is God alone who defines terms of meaning, man's economic theories are actually theories of non-economics or anti-economics, theories to subvert economics.

If economics is – as God defines it – concerned with the unbreachable link between earning and ownership, then man's anti-economics are concerned solely with theft and dispossession; and of course, the disguising of this theft and dispossession as their opposites. Getting away with the crime is as important as the crime itself. Think of it like this: God's Law is the bottom line. There is no rule more basic, God's Law is the only Law one can appeal to. The two sides of God's Law – the prohibition and the act prohibited – are absolute.

Complexity never issues from God's prohibition. The Law remains as simple as it always is because man in his sin is simple, though he likes to imagine himself sophisticated and complicated. Complexity always issues on the violation side of the Law, but this complexity is merely a hustle intended to shroud the same old simple sins in confusion. But the preaching of God's Law exposes and reigns man's pretensions back in and under conviction.

Notice how in modern times in the most expansive sense of this epoch – say from the renaissance to 1900 – the agenda of scholarship has been to wrest disciples of human endeavor from the domain of Christian theology; from being sub-categories of theology, to become autonomous and neutral categories unto themselves.

The explicit agenda was to remove all fields of life from under the sovereign authority of the God of the Bible. Even scholarship itself revolted against the monastery and seminary, and set itself up as independent secular institutions. Since the Renaissance, the mainstream of Western Civilization has been a direct war against the Kingship of Christ. Economics is one of these fields that was once a subcategory of Christian theology and related directly to God's authority and Law.

The work of Adam Smith and others was concerned with removing economics – man's medium of social organization and behavior – from under Christ's jurisdiction and making man a god of himself in his social live, but, of course, with the provision that Christ's name is invoked occasionally for the sake of deniability.

Those Ungovernable Colonists

Our founding fathers knew when to build, and when to fight — and what to build, and what to fight.

By Kevin D. Williamson correspondent at NATIONAL REVIEW.

The American colonies must have been an unruly place, full as they were of religious fanatics and slave traders, second sons and fortune hunters, criminals and former political prisoners, and all manner of people in between. The first settlements hugged the coast, where one set of adventurers looked seaward while another looked to the interior wilderness. It was, in retrospect, almost inevitable that North America would quickly become the wealthiest place in the world by the 17th century.

Why? Because those seditionists, fanatics, and gamblers were impossible to rule. While we are counting our blessings this Thanksgiving, let's not forget to count that one: Our ancestors did not much like being told what to do, and we — and the world — are immeasurably richer and happier for that.

Edmund Burke called the Crown's attitude toward the colonies "wise and salutary neglect," but it was as much pragmatism as it was policy. There were many colonies and colonists, they were not of a uniformly obedient type, they were far away — and, most important, they were extraordinarily productive. By the latter half of the 18th century, there were more iron forges in the American colonies than in Britain, the colonies were exporting millions of barrels of flour and tons of other agriculture products, and one out of three ships in the British merchant fleet was American-built. The economy was booming, and most of the population still lived in rural or semi-rural areas, far from the amusements of urban life, which may explain why the ratio of colonists to subjects back in England went from 1:20 to 1:3 in the course of just a few decades.

One of the reasons why the Industrial Revolution — which is to say, modern civilization — first rumbled to life in Britain rather than in Spain or Germany was the secret unruliness of the English, seemingly one of the world's ruliest peoples. A combination of happy historical accidents and cultural predisposition meant that Englishmen were relatively free to pursue their own economic ends; even in the late medieval period, England did not have anything so strict as the German guild system or serfdom as intensely enforced as French villeinage. The American colonists regularly flouted laws purporting to regulate trade and manufacturing, and the Crown wisely looked the other way. (Until it didn't, at which point it got a fight and lost.)

The division of labor is the essence of civilization, the underlying source of practically every good thing about the material conditions of the modern world. It is why civilized countries do not have famine any more, why we are surrounded by technological wonders, why things like air travel and mobile phones go from being restricted to millionaires to being ho-hum over a short course of years. Most of the technological ingredients for the Industrial Revolution had been in place not only in Britain but in Spain, France, Italy, etc., for years. But British subjects and American colonists had the opportunity and the inclination to begin a finer and more robust division of labor than did their European counterparts. They were just a little bit more free — and a little bit more determined to be free — and that little bit made an incalculable difference, not only to them, but to the world.

They built something remarkable. And the idiot children of the Left are today cheering those who would literally burn it down, in Ferguson and elsewhere.

I am generally inclined toward outbreaks of orneriness, whether in Nevada or in Missouri. If the people of Ferguson believe that they are misgoverned, that their police are a problem, that the usual forms of legal and political redress have failed them, then, by all means, shake the foundations. And there may have been about five minutes at the beginning when that's what this was about. The crowd in Ferguson is now very little more than a lynch mob. Maybe I should be ashamed of it, but there's a little part of my heart that would leap at the sight of Americans setting fire to a tax office. But setting fire to an Autozone? Pathetic.

There's a famous meme that made the rounds during Occupy Wall Street, with a hippie-dirtbag protester labeled "Wants More Government" and menacing police in riot gear closing down on him labeled "More Government." Those of us who want less government do not want only that: We want what flourishes when men are left free to pursue their own ends. The Left, on the other hand, takes every instance of unhappiness as an argument for more government — including bad government. Our founding fathers knew when to build, and when to fight. More importantly, they knew what to build, and what to fight.

The most shocking act of nonconformity in Ferguson, the boldest declaration of independence, would be starting a business rather than burning one.

Editor's note: What this author doesn't realize is, he is describing America and England fulfilling the Abrahamic Covenant. He is giving proof that the promises to Abraham are being fulfilled in the Anglo-Saxon people.

Legal Fight Starts Over SNP 'State Guardian for Every Child'

A judicial review starts of legislation assigning every child in Scotland a state-employed 'named person' amid claims it breaches parents' human rights to raise their children.

A legal fight in Scotland's highest civil court starts today to block an SNP plan to assign every child a state guardian over claims it rides roughshod over parents' rights to raise their children how they see fit.

Judge Lord Pentland is to examine the lawfulness of the measure, contained in the Children and Young People (Scotland) Act, which assigns a "named" person such as a teacher or health visitor to anyone aged under 18.

The No To Named Persons (NO2NP) campaign group has brought the action, arguing that SNP ministers exceeded their powers and breached both data protection laws and the European Convention on Human Rights.

Aidan O'Neill, a senior human rights lawyer, is expected to argue during the four-day judicial review at the Court of Session that the legislation represents an "unjustified interference" into private and family life.

The campaign warned last night that the standard of proof for intervention had been reduced to the extent that the state could gain "unbridled access to every living room in the land" and warned parents' role could be reduced to that of "assistant" to the state.

Among the scenarios it said could arise would be the named person giving a 13-year-old girl sex education materials that her parents have withheld on the grounds they think them unsuitable.

Although the scheme is not supposed to have officially come into force yet, it said James and Rhianwen McIntosh, of Bonnybridge, near Falkirk, were informed in April this year that their four children had been assigned named persons.

The campaign said they were told the NHS wrote to them saying their children's medical records would be passed to the named persons, who would also be informed if an appointment was missed.

Speaking on the eve of the case coming to court, Colin Hart, NO2NP's spokesman, said: "This is all about the fight to save families. Enormous issues are at stake."

"What could be more important than the rights of mums and dads to bring up their children how they see fit, not being dictated to by the heavy-hand of meddling and interfering politicians and their army of taxpayer-funded state monitors?"

He added: "We are making a stand for their independent rights to enjoy a private family life in their own homes with their own children."

The campaign has raised £50,000 from more than 70 individuals and groups to fight the case and is being spearheaded by the Christian Institute, Charity Christian Action Research and Education, the Family Education Trust and Tymes Trust, which represents young ME sufferers and their families.

Under the Act, which was passed by MSPs in February and is due to come into force in 2016, the NHS will appoint a health worker to act as a "named person" for every child until the age of five.

US not Pro-Nazi, just Anti-Christian

24.11.2014 By Xavier Lerma

Although middle-America is conservative with sound Christian values its government is not. Last Friday the UN General Assembly passed a resolution against the promotion of Nazism and other forms of racial discrimination. The majority of countries like Russia were for it but the "land of the free" voted against it. The "brightest beacon for freedom" would not stand in the way of Nazi ideologies. Has the US government turned into Nazis or are they really against Christianity?

Russia had proposed the resolution. Perhaps Russo phobia is the answer to America's vote against it. The US fought against Hitler in WWII, but they fund and support their puppet regime in Kiev taken over by Nazis. Obama's government sides with black criminals when they shoot white people and against police officers who defend themselves against violent black men. On the other hand they allow Nazis to live and promote their ideologies in their own country. Insanity in the "Land of the free" or the freedom to do evil? When prayer in schools became verboten the devil rocked America's cradle teaching chaos to future ne'er-do-wells. A violent drug culture emerged stabbing the back of their forefathers. They began to invade the country as a virus infects a body. Like the plague it engulfed the whole land and the strongest lamented over the nation's weakness. They twisted the words freedom into the freedom to do every vice and evil the wicked could conceive. It turned everything upside down.

Good was bad. Men became women. Women became men. Sodom and Gomorrah was rebuilt. Capitalism was no longer there to help others, but selfishness grew and greed vomited out its illicit pleasures of entertainment that blinded the minds of millions. Those who could not be perverted were given comforts and toys that would satisfy them. Souls became empty and they reached out for anything that gave them America's "Shadow Party" was not completely effective. There were people who could see the sinister changes in their country. They saw the rising tide of violence. They saw how families were being destroyed as the devil rocked every cradle. The sane were considered insane. The foolish were praised as philosophers. Judges were deranged and released murderers, rapists and child molesters back into the public to kill, rape and sexually assault children. Good people watched in horror on TV. Was it a movie, TV show or was it reality? Like a cat toying with a mouse before it's killed, millions were entranced before Free love, sex, drugs and rock and roll.

"This is a free country, man!" they all shouted. All manner of illicit behavior was expressed publicly. They did not care what others said because they have rights to do as they want. "Daddy does not exist so we can do anything." These childish mentalities only rotted away their lives and society. They had already been taught in school all they been sown in universities, colleges and public schools years ago.

Who is the victor? Those who despise Christ and had him removed under the law. They are the victors in the west collecting the spoils of war. They had him "legally" removed from public view and discouraged worshippers in every way that a spider can spin a web. They will all share that guilt on judgment day for they did it knowingly and maliciously disregarding murders of the innocent. They once mocked Christ yelling at him to get off the cross. They still laugh at him today.

"What gives a Christian the right to worship Christ and spread the faith?" they ask. They might shout "keep it to themselves!", "Not in public!" or the usual "Separation of church and state!" They say they want it separate, but they really mean to annihilate Christianity as Marx and Lenin wanted either by killing Christians or by persuading them to turn away from Christ. It does not matter how it is done as long as it gets done either with legal means or with entertainment distractions. No, they will never stop hating Christ and His followers. They will continue to try to blind the world from the miracle in Russia.

They own the western media and they have some control of the internet. Who is "they" you ask? Those who are financially wealthy and despise Christ who have the power to remove Him under the law. You know a tree by its fruit don't you? Then you can know a person by their actions. Call them Communists, Marxists or liberals. No names are necessary. They failed in Russia but are winning in the West. Christianity is the reason the western media and their governments hate Putin and Russia. They thought it was over when they murdered the Tsar and his family. They were wrong. Christ is risen and is still King. The Holy Mother Russia they sought to destroy has been resurrected by Christ with a new and stronger faith. They destroyed Christ the Savior Cathedral, but it was rebuilt by Christians in Russia. Thousands of churches and monasteries that have been destroyed have been repaired or are being repaired.

The US voted against a resolution to stop Nazism, but they are not Nazis. Their shadow government welcomes anything that destroys Christianity. It is nothing new under the sun. Human nature is the same throughout the annals of antiquity. The people of Rome were pagans, but no longer do they have slaves and persecute Christians in the arena. Russia answered Christ's call and came out of the same tyrannical darkness. Repent or fall into chaos. Again, I remind those conservative Americans today enslaved by their tyrannical government in the USA who have remained faithful:

"But they that hope in the Lord shall renew their strength, they shall take wings as eagles, they shall run and not be weary, they shall walk and not faint." -Isaiah 40:31

The Importance of One's Lineal Ancestry

By Michael R. Zaeske

Introduction: I have been a student of the Bible for over forty years. I have been interested in genealogy, presently, for almost twenty years. And, fairly recently, due to the relatively inexpensive availability of genetic testing, I have taken an active interest in the human genome project, and, more specifically, how one particular "marker" can be related to the other topics I will be mentioning. Therefore, it shall be the purpose of this article to explain how many of these topics are interrelated to each other and, subsequently, present some rather startling conclusions that I have drawn as a result of discoveries I have made concerning what I view as genetic proof of the existence of an Adamic Race.

Some Basic Definitions: Before I begin, I need to present some information relating to several standard, generally accepted, definitions for a few key terms and concepts. These are as follows:

Lineal Ancestry - Lineal ancestry revolves around all to whom one is directly descended from. Thus, a lineal descendant, in the usage you will find in this article, refers to a blood relative in the direct line of descent - the children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren, etc., of one specific person.

Collateral Ancestry - Collateral ancestry refers to everyone who is blood related, but not in your direct line of descent. Examples would include an aunt, uncle, or a cousin. And, most certainly, collateral ancestry would include siblings. But, it is important to note that while a brother or sister may have the exact same lineal ancestry as you do, they are not considered lineal ancestors in relation to you. They are collateral ancestors.

Genetialogy - A recently created word (a combination of genetics and genealogy) which is used to describe tracing one's genealogy by using the science of genetics (DNA testing specifically), and even more specifically, DNA testing for common genetic markers.

Most Recent Common Ancestor (MRCA) - This is a term used frequently in genetialogy. While seldom actually located, one's most recent common ancestor is a real term. This person actually existed and could possibly be found (theoretically) in the lineal ancestry of any two individuals (either male or female.) It refers to the one common ancestor both individuals (genetically linked) must have had as has been revealed by genetic testing. It is important to note that the number of generations between an MRCA and the two individuals who are genetically related may not be the same.

Most Distant Common Ancestor (MDCA) - The one individual who is the single individual responsible for the existence of an entire lineal descent group. In the instance discussed in this article, it represents a man named Adam, the primogenitor, of the Adamic Race.

Descent Groups - Descent groups are composed of the lineal descendants of a common ancestor.

Unilineal Descent - Unilineal descent is either patrilineal or matrilineal. In other words, one's direct lineage traced backwards on either the male side or the female side using either genealogy or genetic testing. If patrilineal, it is always one's father, his father, and his father. Quite simply, father grandfather, g-grandfather. These days, all who had the same surname, excluding uncles, siblings, etc. With matrilineage, it is the same, but of course, surnames would be different. In the article that follows, the author will suggest a genetic test that should reveal Unilineal descendancy from the Adam of the Bible for those who belong to a specific Haplogroup.

Haplogroup - Please reference the discussion in the text

DNA Testing - One can find a whole lot of info about DNA testing at www.familytreeDNA.com.

This Is What This Author Intends to Demonstrate: In this article I intend to show that certain male individuals presently alive on this planet, now have the capability, using genetic testing, to determine if they are a lineal descendant of an individual mentioned in Scripture known as Adom or Adam. Additionally, I intend to show, if my premise is true, that Adam can be established as the Most Common Recent Ancestor for millions of individuals presently living on this planet by applying the rules of how one's lineal ancestry is established using DNA, so that we can begin to understand who our true "brothers" (genetically speaking) and "sisters" are.

Disclaimer: While the concept of different races is definitely considered in the article you are about to read, nothing should be interpreted as attempting to suggest or establish one race is above, superior to, lessor than, or, in any way, different than any other race, excepting in their male Y chromosomal structure, is suggested or even implied. It is the sole purpose of this author to establish a scientific basis by which the topic of race may be more thoroughly investigated by others.

The Article Itself Begins Here: First, some technical stuff: O.K. It has to happen. I will make it as simple as possible. Certain, now well established scientific understandings about genetics have to be introduced. Otherwise, this article will be meaningless to most who read it.

Since about 2002, when the availability of genetic testing became readily available to most anyone with a couple of hundred bucks to "invest," genetialogy has exploded. I hope to be one of the first to expand some of these scientific understandings to include discussions of race and, especially, the Adamic Race.

To start with, let me first get real technical. I promise I won't dwell on it. Let's start with Haplogroups. A haplogroup, for all intents and purposes, is simply the assignment of a name (actually a repeating set of letters and numbers) to individuals, who through genetic testing, have been determined to have the same genetic markers. The Haplogroup I will be focusing on in this paper is identified as R1a, or sometimes, R1a1. I believe this is the haplogroup that identifies all of the male descendants of a being referred to in the Bible as Adam.

Now I need to quote, briefly from a rather technical article titled "A Nomenclature System for the Tree of Human Y-Chromosomal Binary Haplogroups" published in "Genome Research" in February of 2002. ". . . the emergence of several unrelated and nonsystematic nomenclatures for Y-chromosomal binary haplogroups is an increasing source of confusion." [continuing] "To resolve this issue . . . a representative set of examples, 74 of which were males [taken from and identified as being the sum total of all known basic types of Y DNA] from the Y Chromosome Consortium cell line repository." Got it?

Overly simplified, what the above states is this: There are only 74 different male lineages we can be looking at. (Think 74 races - maybe even the "seventy nations?" Genesis 10-11) Of these 74 different male lines, I am strongly suggesting, but can not definitively prove, that just one of these (the lineal ancestry identified as R1a . . . haplogroup) is representative of a fairly large number of individuals (think the promises to Abraham) who should all be considered as direct descendants of Adam and Eve.

Secondly, and very importantly, it is necessary for the reader of this article to be exposed to what is technically known as recombinant and non-recombinant DNA. Recombinant DNA is the stuff scientists like to mess with to create the likes of GMO foods, and other stuff like that. Not good, in my opinion. These scientists are now boasting that that will be able to alter human genes (or maybe even already have) in the very near future.

But, here is a partial quote from another technical article: "There is no recombination between the X and most of the Y chromosome [the sex chromosomes.] Genes on the part of the Y chromosome that does [sic] not recombine will be passed from father to son, down the paternal lineage, and will never be present in females." [Emphasis by this author]

So, what the above suggests is that the male Y chromosome of a direct descendant of Adam is identical with the Y chromosome that Adam had. I feel it is much more than simply a suggestion. I take it as a fact, a soon to be accepted fact, I hope.

That's pretty profound and bears repeating. If I am a direct descendant of a man known in Scripture as Adam, (which I am certain that I am) then my Y chromosome is IDENTICAL with the Y chromosome that Adam possessed! So simple and yet so profound in what it means!

And, this statement, combined with the present day capability for most anyone to be genetically tested, allows for some powerful arguments about who all are the real descendants of Adam, or, as Pastor David Barley introduced me to who all are a part of the Adamic Race.

How This All Started: I had been studying my own genealogy for over twenty years by the time genetic testing became available. Using the on-line service provided by FamilyTreeDNA, I had my DNA tested for over 67 markers in four separate purchases. I did this over a period of time because when these services first became available, they were a bit "pricey" in my estimation. Now days, prices for such testing have dropped considerably and they are much more reasonably priced and certainly more readily available as the number of testing services has expanded greatly.

Anyway, about three years ago I found myself an in-patient at Huron Medical Center, in Bad Axe, Michigan, having been admitted for heart related problems. Over the course of one week-end when the regular "docs" took time off, I was attended to by a female doctor, a Dr. McComb, who was covering for the absent docs. Being as it was a small hospital, and she wasn't terribly busy, I struck up a conversation with her about my Y chromosome DNA that I had recently had tested.

I told her I was classed in Haplogroup R1a1 . . . to which she responded, seemingly surprised, "You aren't Jewish, are you? You certainly don't look Jewish."

To which I responded, "Oh, no, not even close!"

Well, I thought about this for some time before I came to the realization that Edomite Jews are descended from Esau, the brother of Jacob. And, if that were true, then I quickly realized that my Y chromosome would be identical to the Y chromosomes had by all genuine Edomite Jews.

Wow! What a realization!

I started to think further about all the male ancestries recorded in the Bible in such comprehensive detail. But, I never really, until just recently, made the connection all the way back to Adam, and, even more significantly, recognized what it actually meant.

A King's DNA Becomes Suspect: Recently, in the major media, there have been a number of stories about a long since deceased British King (King Richard III) whose bones were examined for DNA. And, it was discovered that the DNA of his presumed male offspring did not match his. That, in turn, suggested very strongly, that this King's wife had been unfaithful and had been inseminated by a male other than the King! For shame! Maybe this is the reason so many eunuchs attending to royalty were repeatedly mentioned in the Old Testament! (Yes, that was supposed to be a funny.)

So, now that someone other than myself has broached the subject of how male DNA can be useful in establishing one's ancestry, I decided to write this article.

Summary and conclusion: In conclusion, what I am postulating is that any male who is properly tested and finds he belongs in haplogroup R1a1, is a direct descendant of Adam. I feel strongly about this, but again, can not conclusively prove it. So, if you are like me in that you feel as though you are a part of the Adamic Race, you now have at your disposal a tool in the form of genetic testing that may help you to understand better whether or not you are. In other words, you can now find out with absolute certainty which haplogroup you are a part of. And, if you are a direct male descendant of this man Adam, the very same Adam mentioned in the creation described in Genesis, Chapter Two of your Bible, you should understand that you and Adam are not just related, but that he was your literal great, great ever so great grandfather.

What about females? Can they tell if they, too, are directly descended from the woman, later called Eve? Well, that's a whole 'nuther story I intend to write about in an article tentatively titled, "Understanding the Third Curse of Eve."

So, as they used to say on old time radio, "Stay tuned. More to come."
