FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK: RACISM, RACISM, RACISM...

Are you a racist or not? Let's see, I looked in my CONSOLIDATED WEBSTER ENCYCLOPEDIA DICTIONARY, published in 1954, and lo and behold, I could not find the word "racist." I could find "race and racial," but not the word "racist." Does that mean that "racist" who or whatever they are, did not exist? You see, my point is, the term "racist" is a newer term cooked up by today's "thought control geo-political police." Obviously there have always been, and there always will be, at least in this life, racial prejudices, racial biases, and racial segregationists of all races. Yes, ALL RACES, and ALL PEOPLE have their racial prejudices and racial biases. Only a fool and a liar would claim he or she is not prejudice or that they are not a "racist," at least to some varying degrees. Just ask them where they live, or why they do not live in and among certain types of people in the Detroit area, or the Watts area of Los Angeles. It's easy to pretend to not be racially bias and live in a small, mostly White town like Sandpoint, Idaho. We have quite a few liberal hypocrites who claim they want to coexist with all people and that there's not a prejudice bone in their body, but they wouldn't dare live (as an example) in a heavily populated black area. But they love to put one of those type of multireligious bumper stickers on their car. Now, not finding a definition of "racist" in an older dictionary, I looked up the word at Dictionary.com

World English Dictionary

racism or racialism ('reɪsɪzəm, 'reɪfə,lɪzəm) -- n

1. the belief that races have distinctive cultural characteristics determined by hereditary factors and that this endows some races with an intrinsic superiority over others.
2. abusive or aggressive behavior towards members of another race on the basis of such a belief.

So, according to this modern day politically correct thought definition, to believe "that races have distinctive cultural characteristics determined by hereditary factors," and that "this endows some races with an intrinsic superiority over others," then you are a "racist." In other words, to believe that "black men can jump higher than white men," or that "black men are better athletes, tougher boxers, or football players, you are a racist. If you believe black people are inherently more physically endowed to play basketball, and that they are intrinsically superior to the other races on the basketball court, then you are a racist. If you believe that certain Asian people are smarter per capita to other races of people, then you are a "racists." The list of course could go on and on with racial biases we all have and will always have.

As long as people would rather be among their own kind, and they have a stronger desire to support and uphold the racial interests of their own (kind) people, and admittedly, White people, of all the various races least support their own racial kindred, but as long as people support the racial culture and interests of their kindred, racism will abound. Racism, to a degree, I would argue, is a natural inherent, built-in, DNA fundamental of our racial identity that is heavily being exploited by certain political groups that have a vested interest in eradicating racial consciousness, especially among White Adamic Israelites.

I should remind our readers (the choir if you will) that the Bible is a book mainly directed to the racial Adamites through the seed of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob (Israel). Thus, it could, and I would argue that it indeed is, according to today's modern definition, a "somewhat racist book." We are told in Genesis 5:1:

This is the book of the generations of Adam. In the day that God created man, in the likeness of God made he him;

The fact is, the modern-day thought control engineers created this definition of a "racist" out of thin air, kind of like the money-changers create their phony money. So, if I may be permitted, I will offer my own definition of a "RACIST":

"Someone who predominately loves and supports their race, and believes they have a God ordained Biblical duty to protect and uphold their race. This means loving them enough to tell them the truth and warn them of all enemies both foreign and domestic. And if we see our race in danger, or under attack covertly or overtly, we have an obligation to protect, defend, and resist the enemy in whatever form it may appear."

Well, that may not be your "cup of tea" definition of a racist, and, admittedly, I could add more to this definition, but I believe it is more viable and applicable than their contrived "political science" definition. You see, they have an agenda to put a negative slant to their definition, I believe mine is a more positive family oriented definition. As you know only too well, the media ad nauseam, has been "nannyizing us through thought control with the so called evils of “racism” with the recent media Cliven (BLM) Bundy interview and his supposed “racists” thoughts, and then this current Jewish billionaire owner of the LA Clippers, and his deranged thoughts and perverted lifestyle. I have little to say about that Talmudic billionaire. Cliven Bundy at least is a Christian and has a sense of heritage and racial ethics. Donald Sterling is an adulterous whoremonger who employs Talmudic logic.

By the way, did you hear about the Utah lawmaker who wants to disarm such federal agencies as the BLM and the IRS? Here’s a portion of a recent article explaining what Representative Chis Stewart is trying to do:

Utah Lawmaker Moves to Disarm BLM & IRS Says ‘They’re Not Paramilitary Units’

By Cheryl K. Chumley, Washington Times (April 30, 2014)

Rep. Chris Stewart of Utah, concerned about the armed agents that surrounded Nevada rancher Cliven Bundy’s property, is mulling a measure to cut funding for any “paramilitary units” that work for the Bureau of Land Management, the Internal Revenue Service and other federal regulatory agencies.

“There are lots of people who are really concerned when the BLM shows up with its own SWAT team,” he said, the Salt Lake Tribune reported. “They’re regulatory agencies. They’re not paramilitary units, and I think that concerns a lot of us.”

His mulled amendment to an appropriations bill comes in context of recent BLM actions against Mr. Bundy: The federal agents armed themselves and surrounded his property, tasered his son, closed down road access to the ranch and even shot a couple of his prize bulls. The reasons? Mr. Bundy hadn’t paid his grazing fees to the federal government, but rather fought the matter in court. Militia from all over the nation came to the ranch to support Mr. Bundy in his standoff with the BLM – and for that, Senate Majority Leader Harry Reid labeled them "domestic terrorists," various media reported.

The BLM finally backed off and left – but not before a shocked nation expressed outrage at the government's armed stance against a man who, at the root, was guilty of not paying a bill. Mr. Stewart said it's high time the government end its practice of arming its own special units for various agencies, like the BLM and the IRS.

To me, this Bundy standoff is just another spiritual, Biblical awakening that is of God. It is not about the shortcomings and failures of Cliven Bundy, but a reminder to the American people of the immoral, corrupt, totalitarian direction and purpose of our "Edomite, Zionist, Antichrist Federal Government, and their puppet politicians." Certainly, this includes the variety of people who through omission or commission have supported this globalistic amoral regime. I have been watching this BLM vs Cliven Bundy event unfold and the various opinions being thrown about, and I cannot help but be suspicious of certain people, even "celebrities" who want to cast disparaging thoughts upon Cliven Bundy. I do not mean to imply that Cliven Bundy does not have his moral shortcomings and failures, but Cliven is not the enemy, NO MATTER WHAT YOU HAVE HEARD FROM WHATEVER SOURCE (even Glen Beck, who wants us to think his Gandhi peace approach is next to being a saint).

I'm sure Clive is "a little rough around the edges." So am I. No doubt Clive is not what you would call "politically incorrect." So am I, and so are you my dear friends. Right? He is being ridiculed right now by many radio and media "stars" because he does not speak as flowery and politically correct as "they do." Well, I'm sure Cliven can do ranching a whole lot better than they can. Of course, the present outrage by the media, is over Cliven Bundy's politically incorrect statements about welfare Negros. Here's what he said:

"I want to tell you one more thing I know about the Negro," he said. Mr. Bundy recalled driving past a public-housing project in North Las Vegas, "and in front of that government house the door was usually open and the older people and the kids — and there is always at least a half a dozen people sitting on the porch — they didn't have nothing to do. They didn't have nothing for their kids to do. They didn't have nothing for their young girls to do."

"And because they were basically on government subsidy, so now what do they do?" he asked. "They about their young children, they put their young men in jail, because they never learned how to pick cotton. And I've often wondered, are they better off as slaves, picking cotton and having a family life and doing things, or are they better off under government subsidy? They didn't get no more freedom. They got less freedom."

Let me pause and share two quotes by two present day good thinking Black leaders that I personally respect:

"The welfare state has done to Blacks what slavery couldn't do, and that is to destroy the Black family." – Walter E. Williams

"The Black family, which had survived centuries of slavery, began rapidly disintegrating in the liberal welfare state" - Thomas Sowell

OK, now that I've stirred the pot with those good quotes, let's continue with more thoughts from Cliven Bundy:

..." and so what I've testified to ya', I was in the WATTS riot, I seen the beginning fire and I seen the last fire. What I seen is civil disturbance. People are not happy, people is thinking they did not have their freedom; they didn't have these things, and they didn't have them.

"We've progressed quite a bit from that day until now, and sure don't want to go back; we sure don't want the colored people to go back to that point; we sure don't want the Mexican people to go back to that point; and we can make a difference right now by taking care of some of these bureaucracies, and do it in a peaceful way.

"Let me tell.. talk to you about the Mexicans, and these are just things I know about the Negroes. I want to tell you one more thing I know about the Negro.

"When I go, went, go to Las Vegas, North Las Vegas; and I would see these little government houses, and in front of that government house the door was usually open and the older people and the kids.... and there was always at least a half a dozen people sitting on the porch. They didn't have nothing to do. They didn't have nothing for the kids to do. They didn't have nothing for the young girls to do.

"And because they were basically on government subsidy - so now what do they do? They abort their young children, they put their young men in jail, because they never, they never learned how to pick cotton. And I've often wondered are they were better off as slaves, picking cotton and having a family life and doing things? Or are they better off under government subsidy?

"You know they didn't get more freedom, uh they got less freedom - they got less family life, and their happiness -you could see it in their faces- they were not happy sitting on that concrete sidewalk. Down there they was probably growing their turnips - so that's all government, that's not freedom.

"Now, let me talk about the Spanish people. You know I understand that they come over here against our constitution and cross our borders. But they're here and they're people - and I've worked side-by-side a lot of them.

"Don't tell me they don't work, and don't tell me they don't pay taxes. And don't tell me they don't have better family structure than most of us white people. When you see those Mexican families, they're together, they picnic together, they're spending their time together, and I'll tell you in my way of thinking they're awful nice people.

"And we need to have those people join us and be with us.... not, not come to our party. "

Now, of course, when you look at the whole thoughts of Cliven Bundy contrasting his thoughts about welfare blacks and "Spanish people," he does not appear to be the bad, wicked, and terrible racist the media wants to make him out to be. What the media and government want to do is color over this whole BLM land rights issue with the race card as is so typical with the Obama NUT House tactics.

Furthermore, if the BLM has the right to bear arms to force the point of its land claim rights, so do the people gathered who support Cliven Bundy. War does not have to be declared before the American citizens can exercise their right to own and bear arms. Glenn Beck is not necessarily wrong in his thoughts about Gandhi and Martin Luther King Jr, because he is right about "peaceful protests" and the fact that they did work for Gandhi and the Indian people against the British, and for Martin Luther King Jr. and the black people. However, this does not mean WE THE PEOPLE should not exercise our right to own and bear arms, because believe me friends, the globalists would love it if all the people would only use “peace” and give up this idea “to own and bear arms.” Yes, peace gatherings and peace movements their place and can be very effective, but people like Stalin or Idi Amin or Mao Ts Tung are not stopped through “peace,” BUT BY PEACEMAKERS.

Our Christian American forefathers tried “peace” time after time, until the day came when the citizenry had to physically confront the enemy. However, it is important to note that our forefathers spent years trying to come to a peaceful solution.

In closing, I want to quote a portion of Ben Swann’s recent article about Cliven Bundy:

Truth in Media: Cliven Bundy’s “Racist” Remarks Were Also Promoting Hispanic Culture? What MSM Isn’t Telling You

By: Ben Swann Apr 25, 2014

“...Has the media given a truthful representation of Cliven Bundy’s so called “racist” remarks run by the New York Times and promoted by Media Matters? The answer is simple, NO!!

On just about any website or broadcast running the remarks, they have limited the excerpts to comments about “the Negro” and “picking cotton”...

As media are blasting Bundy for the remarks and politicians are running away from Bundy as quickly as they can... It is worth listening to the comments about Hispanics which were conveniently removed from the videos being played by mainstream media.

Why were the comments about “Spanish” people not included in media coverage? The answer is simple. What Cliven Bundy says there does not fit the narrative of a racist. In fact, some people would call him a “liberal” when he says that even if illegal immigrants have “violated our Constitution, they are here and they are people”, when he says Hispanics “have a stronger family structure than many of us white people” and when he says “don’t tell me they don’t work and they don’t pay taxes.” Those comments, would strike many “conservatives” as being “too sympathetic” toward Hispanic immigrants. More importantly, it forces Bundy out of the neatly organized media box of being a racist...

One other issue which is important here. Even if Cliven Bundy is a raging racist (which he does not appear to be given the full context of his statement) that has nothing to do with whether or not federal agents can steal his cattle, destroy his property and continue to rob him of his livelihood. It has nothing to do with whether or not the feds are engaged in a war with ranchers that has led to dozens of ranches shutting down across the west.

Too often, media plays this game. “Do you like Cliven Bundy’s statement about ‘Negros’? If you don’t and you find those words to be distasteful or racist, then you can simply accept anything that happens to him as deserving.”

Natural and Constitutional rights do not belong to be people because the collective “likes” or “approves” of that person. Regardless of whatever is in Cliven Bundy’s head, it has no bearing on whether the BLM is engaged in a violation of his Constitutional and Natural rights.”

I thought what Ben said was pretty much right on. There are many American people who have no voice given them by the press. The media controllers out of New York create the news, meaning, they pick and choose what they want you to hear and what they want you to think is important. All the New York national news syndicates are controlled and operated by basically six companies headed by Jews. Yet, most people are led to believe that the Jews are so persecuted, hated, and oppressed, and that wherever “anti-Jewish” thought or activity emerges, that it never has any real foundation or legitimate reason for such thoughts or belief, that is all pretty much just based on some nebulous concept of “anti-Semitism.”

No, it has everything to do with factually knowing that Jews are behind the banking monopoly, Hollywood, the porn-criminal syndicate, most of American politics and strong arm tactics of APAC, ACLU, ADL, and a host of other powerful Jewish lobbying groups keeping America under the Jewish thumb. He who controls the “gold” rules, this is their “golden rule.”

The Jewish media wants the American public to think that the reason there is such strong anti-Jewish sentiment existing in many places of the world, including Russia, Ukraine, China, and Japan, because of some crazy prejudice against Jews. It couldn't possibly be because of their Jewish monetary practices and outright conspiracy policies that they have carried out since their Edomite, Hittite, Canaanite, Amorite Babylonian captivity, out of which they created their bible, the Babylonian Talmud.

By the way, all the practices and schemes laid out in the Protocols of the Learned Elders of Zion, come right out of their bible, the Babylonian Talmud. So, when you hear them say, “The Protocols of the Learned Elders of Zion” is a forgery, don't believe it, the original principles of this document come right out of the Talmud and the Kabala.

As far as Jewish billionaire Donald Sterling is concerned, let the Jews defend their own, which they already are doing. He is gross Edomite smut and the dogs tearing at him deserve all the crumbs they can take from him.

ALBERT SCHWEITZER SPEAKS HIS MIND

From 1913 until his death in 1965, Schweitzer practiced as a doctor in the hospital he founded in Africa, in the village of Lambarene. His ethic was “reverence for life.” In 1952, he received the Nobel Peace prize. He was one of the most outstanding Christian leaders of his generation. Consider, then, what Albert Schweitzer had to say about race after spending most of his adult life among the natives of Africa:

"I have given my life to try to alleviate the sufferings of Africa. There is something that all White men who have lived here like I must learn and know: that these individuals are a sub-race. They have neither the intellectual, mental or emotional abilities to equate or to share equally with White men in any function of our civilization. I have given my life to try to bring them the advantages which our civilization must offer, but I have become well aware that we must retain this status: the superior and they the inferior. For whenever a white man seeks to live among them as equals, they will either destroy him or devour him. And they will destroy all of his work. Let White men from anywhere in the world who come to Africa remember that you must continually retain that status: you the master and they the inferior, like children that you help or teach. Never fraternize with them as equals. Never accept them as your social equals or they will devour you. They will destroy you."

(from The Watchman fall 2013 issue)

America is Following the Soviet Union's Ways

Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn was a Russian novelist, historian, and critic of Soviet totalitarianism. He helped to raise global awareness of the gulag and the Soviet Union's forced labor camp system. In Washington, D.C., on June 30, 1975 gave a speech titled The Voice of Freedom and authored The Gulag Archipelago. Here are some very pertinent quotes that speak to us today.

"Let me remind you with what sort of system they started.

The system was installed by armed uprising.

It introduced execution without trial.

It crushed workers' strikes.

It plundered the villagers to such an unbelievable extent that the peasants revolted, and when this happened it crushed the peasants in the bloodiest possible way.

It shattered the Church.

It reduced 20 provinces of our country to a condition of famine.

It was a system which deceived the workers in all of its decrees - the decree on land, the decree on peace, the decree on factories, and the decree on freedom of the press.

It was a system which exterminated all additional parties, and let me make it clear to you that it not only disbanded the party itself, but destroyed its members. All members of every other party were exterminated. It was a system which carried out genocide of the peasantry; 15 million peasants were sent off to extermination.

It was a system which, in time of peace, artificially created a famine, causing 6 million persons to die in the Ukraine in 1932 and 1933.

"Moscow fell to the Bolsheviks not from a lack of weapons to defend it, but from the lying guile of the Reds."

"Do not be fooled by a belief that progressives, leftists hate guns. Oh, no, they do not. What they hate is guns in the hands of those who are not marching in lock step to their ideology."

"And how we burned in the camps later, thinking: What would things have been like if every Security operative, when he went out at night to make an arrest, had been uncertain whether he would return alive and had to say good-bye to his family? Or if, during periods of mass arrests, as for example in Leningrad, when they arrested a quarter of the entire city, people had not simply sat there in their lairs, paling with terror at every bang of the downstairs door and at every step on the staircase, but had understood they had nothing left to lose and had boldly set up in the downstairs hall an ambush of half a dozen people with axes, hammers, pokers, or whatever else was at hand?"

HEBREWS PART 13

By Pastor Barley

Hebrews 11

Chapter 11 of Hebrews is a call to faith for the Hebrew Israelite Isaac-sons Covenant people. They are the people of “the faith of Abraham,” the Biblical heirs of the Promise, the lost sheep of the House of Israel that Jesus came unto and of whom the Apostles ministered unto within the vast bulk of their missionary work. The Greeks, Romans, Celtic, Anglo-Saxon, Germanic, Spaniards, Scandinavian, Scythians (all of these groups of people are from the dispersion of the ten-tribed Northern House of Israel), the Judeans of the Southern Kingdom of Israel, and kindred people, is basically a description of the vast number of Hebrews. This eleventh chapter of Hebrews gives us a list of the heroes of the Abrahamic faith as examples for our spiritual growth. There are many side issues that I could address in this chapter, but I want to focus on the way it begins.

Hebrews 11:1

Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen.

What is Faith?

We are told here that faith is the substance or assurance of things hoped for. In this usage and when defined correctly, it means the confidence, assurance, or assured expectation of something. Have you ever thought about it in that manner? Many of us, if asked, would simply say that faith is really nothing tangible – you cannot see it, you cannot taste it, you cannot touch it; therefore, it is not really a “thing.” As used by the author of Hebrews, faith is the assured expectation of what we hope for and the evidence of those unseen things. As an example, the evidence of gravity is that it compels movement toward the center of the earth, but evidence is not gravity itself. Faith is not a “thing”; it is the assurance of a “thing.” If you use this assured expectation properly, you will obtain the right results. Faith is a revelation from our Father, it is not of flesh and blood. An assured expectation is a powerful tool that has been given to the Sons of God. Jesus has quite a bit to say about faith, and one of those thoughts He summed up with, “Oh ye of little faith.”

In Colossians, we are told about one of these unseen forces, “the invisible God.” Jesus Christ became the material image of that invisible God to give flesh and blood reality to “things hoped for.”

Colossians 1:15-17

¹⁵Who is the image of the invisible God, the firstborn of every creature: ¹⁶For by him were all things created, that are in heaven, and that are in earth, visible and invisible, whether they be thrones, or dominions, or principalities, or powers: all things were created by him, and for him: ¹⁷And he is before all things, and by him all things consist.

Just as faith is invisible, Yahweh God Almighty is also invisible, this is why “faith” connects us with the Creator. There is an invisible world of power, which is ruled over by its Creator Jesus Christ, not some devil god of this world. Many Christians could be strengthened in their faith if they had this understanding.

This invisible power is the Holy Spirit, which groomed the heroes we read about in Hebrews 11. This invisible power grooms and chastens us as well. We read of this in Hebrews 12:

⁵And ye have forgotten the exhortation which speaketh unto you as unto children, My son, despise not thou the chastening of the Lord, nor faint when thou art rebuked of him: ⁶For whom the Lord loveth he chasteneth, and scourgeth every son whom he receiveth. ⁷If ye endure chastening, God dealeth with you as with sons; for what son is he whom the father chasteneth not? ⁸But if ye be without chastisement, whereof all are partakers, then are ye bastards, and not sons.

Challenges to our Faith

The Sons of God are to live by faith (to have an assured expectation). It activates our spiritual grooming. The Holy Spirit is formed and founded in man through faith assurance and obedience. Obedience is not a mere fleshly virtue that voids grace, but is an extension of grace that is emitted by faith. The Word tells us that Adamic man lost his special spiritual position in the Garden of Eden. However, through the power of the Holy Spirit today, Adamic man will be able to regain that position, that estate that he lost in the beginning. God is restoring that estate to him through faith, true boldness of faith, that God is true to His Word and that man must respond by faith to the Word through the leading of Holy Spirit.

The plan of our adversaries (plural) is to try to take this estate away from us. The Bible makes this very clear. The methods used are the lust of the flesh, the lust of the eyes, greed, lies (our adversaries know how much people love well packaged, frequently stated lies) and the pride of life. The adversarial forces want to keep us bound up, weak, and depraved (in other words, in a state of captivity). 1st John gives us clear instructions in this regard.

1 John 2:15-17

¹⁵Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him. ¹⁶For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world. ¹⁷And the world passeth away, and the lust thereof: but he that doeth the will of God abideth for ever.

Notice the interesting clues. Man has eyes to lust upon those things that he can see. Nevertheless, there is a spiritual insight that God has given to the Sons of God. You and I must desire to be participates in this spiritual insight so that it will remove the truth blinding scales from our eyes. When these scales are removed, we will better understand our relationship to God and His will, plan, and purpose for us. If you allow the world to groom your mind, then you are not going to be a people whom He leads by faith. Our adversaries continue to remove our heritage and historical heroes, and indoctrinate us by the things of this world that appeal to our pride of life, our lust of the flesh, and our lust of the eyes. They continually dangle the toys of Babylon before us, and we seek after them.

Truth and light come from the Word of God and the Christ within us. I have before me an article written by Charley Reese. Is that not an interesting question?

What If What We Know Was Chosen Deliberately To Deceive Us?

By Charley Reese of The Sentinel Staff (9 December 1999)

A fairly recent movie, The Matrix, is an interesting science fiction thriller. People believed they are living normal lives, but, in fact, it is an illusion. In reality, their naked bodies are hooked up in vast rows of vats and used by machines, which control the earth to generate energy.

I would like to suggest to you that we, too, are living in an illusionary world. Our five senses – vision, hearing, smell, taste, and touch – are our only contact with the world outside our bodies. These senses send data to the brain, which processes and stores it in a memory bank. For most of the time man has been on earth, if he wishes to see something, he had to be physically present. Stories told around campfires would generate fantasized images. But beyond that, ancient man was fairly firmly rooted to the reality as interpreted by his own senses.

As painting developed, but, most important, as photography developed – first still, then moving, then electric man could be exposed to images of things he had not seen. We are even exposed to images of things that are, in fact deliberate fakes. The conscious part of our brain knows that when we see a movie, we are seeing, in costumes actors on a set being filmed. On the other hand, these images are stored in our brains, without a label that reads, “False Image.”

This is important when you realize that, during a lifetime, literally millions of false images will be stored in our brains. The further we get from the moment we first saw the false image, the more difficult it is to sort out what is a true image and what is a false image. For example, if I say “Civil War,” most of us will pull up images from the movie Gone with the Wind or images from the Public Broadcasting Service special about the war. None of us experienced the actual event. Our only visual images of it are from photographs, artwork, and Hollywood sets. None of these captures the reality of the war even in its wholeness.

Bear in mind, too, that we know nothing about the past except what we are told in words, photographs and artwork produced by others. Suppose something that we had been told happened, in fact, did not happen. Suppose all of the words we have read and heard, all the images we have seen in photographs, were in fact, deliberately chosen to deceive us.

It is stunning, when you think about it, that one hundred percent of our knowledge of the past is created in our own minds by words and images produced by other people, virtually all strangers. The same goes for much of our knowledge of the present. We can be in only one place at one time and directly experience what is within range of our senses. Beyond that, we rely on words and images transmitted to us by strangers. Whether these words and images are indeed accurate reflections of the real things is difficult for us to know.

Let me suggest to you that most Americans are living in a matrix created by a corporate elite that controls the news media, the entertainment industry, the book publishing, the government, and most universities. Thus Americans are bombarded with the same message: America is the most prosperous, most free country in the world. This is the longest-running boom in history All the economic indicators show prosperity. Globalism is good and inevitable.

Now, certainly many Americans know that they are not prosperous, and it must be disconcerting constantly to be told that they are. The probable result is that they feel that their future must be their own fault. Wake up, folks. Reality may be rough, but it is a lot better than illusions.

This tells us that forces out there want to take our estate and our assured expectations away from us. They are doing it through deception. They appeal to the lust of the flesh through repetitious lies and lust-producing images of thought control. Our minds bend to their will, and our faith diminishes. God Almighty warned us that the carnal mind is at enmity with Him. He clearly wants us to be on the alert against deceptions. The Apostle Peter explains, as the author of Hebrews does, that judgment begins in the house of God and that He chastises us because He loves us, He is our Heavenly Father, and we are His Covenant children. Peter enlarges upon the fact that we, as partakers of Christ's sufferings, will "suffer according to the will of God" and that therein we must be faithful to Him and commit our souls to Him in "well doing."

Turn now to 1 Peter:

¹²Beloved, think it not strange concerning the fiery trial which is to try you, as though some strange thing happened unto you: ¹³But rejoice, inasmuch as ye are partakers of Christ's sufferings; that, when his glory shall be revealed, ye may be glad also with exceeding joy. ¹⁴If ye be reproached for the name of Christ, happy are ye; for the spirit of glory and of God resteth upon you: on their part he is evil spoken of, but on your part he is glorified. ¹⁵But let none of you suffer as a murderer, or as a thief, or as an evildoer, or as a busybody in other men's matters. ¹⁶Yet if any man suffer as a Christian, let him not be ashamed; but let him glorify God on this behalf. ¹⁷For the time is come that judgment must begin at the house of God: and if it first begin at us, what shall the end be of them that obey not the gospel of God? ¹⁸And if the righteous scarcely be saved, where shall the ungodly and the sinner appear? ¹⁹Wherefore let them that suffer according to the will of God commit the keeping of their souls to him in well doing, as unto a faithful Creator.

Jude exhorts us to earnestly contend (struggle, fight for, press in) for our faith, our assured expectation:

³Beloved, when I gave all diligence to write unto you of the common salvation, it was needful for me to write unto you, and exhort you that ye should earnestly contend for the faith which was once delivered unto the saints.

In verse 4, he issues this warning against seducers of our faith:

For there are certain men crept in unawares, who were before of old ordained to this condemnation, ungodly men, turning the grace of our God into lasciviousness, and denying the only Lord God, and our Lord Jesus Christ.

Question, who might these words specifically identify?

These scriptures are not loosely presented to the reader, as they clearly identify a particular group of people, “...ordained to this condemnation, ungodly men, turning the grace of our God into lasciviousness, and denying the only Lord God, and our Lord Jesus Christ.” These words as a whole describe and identify the Protocols of Talmudic Jewry.

Grooming Those of Faith

It is difficult for the gullible carnal mind to comprehend, but there are forces that have come in to deceive God's very elect. If they can keep us deceived, then they are keeping us from moving into the mark of the prize of the high calling which is in Christ Jesus. They want to prevent us from living by faith, and they use the doctrine of humanism to accomplish this. It is Relativism verses Biblical absolutes.

Yahweh yanked the Apostle Paul from the Pharisaical world and groomed him to recognize the deceptive forces around him. Paul understood how the law of the flesh is receptive to deception, and he knew we would face a struggle. That is how he could say, “I count all things but loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord: for whom I have suffered the loss of all things, and do count them but dung, that I may win Christ...”

(Philippians 3:8) Paul Understood that the Christ within him would feed and activate his faith so that he could share the vision of Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, Moses, David, and the prophets of God who looked for that City whose Builder and Maker was God. Those heroes we read about in Hebrews 11, were groomed through similar hardships and struggles to learn the power of assured expectation (faith) which comes through the power of His Holy Spirit. Each of these heroes sought the City of God as we read in verse 13-14:

Hebrews 11:13-14

¹³These all died in faith, not having received the promises, but having seen them afar off, and were persuaded of them, and embraced them, and confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims on the earth. ¹⁴For they that say such things declare plainly that they seek a country.

This leads us into Hebrews 11:16:

¹⁶But now they desire a better country, that is, an heavenly: wherefore God is not ashamed to be called their God: for he hath prepared for them a city.

Notice that “these all died in the faith;” they never forsook it. They were willing to die for that assured expectation although they had not yet received the promise. The declaration was that they were strangers on the earth because they had not yet obtained their inheritance. That inheritance was their estate, the City whose Builder and Maker was God, which is another name of the Kingdom of God. However, they remained steadfast in the faith that someday their inheritance would become a reality. Jesus told us to “...seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you,” (Matthew 6:33) and Israel’s journey is one of preparation for membership in that Kingdom.

Hebrews 10:15-16

¹⁵Whereof the Holy Ghost also is a witness to us: for after that he had said before, ¹⁶This is the covenant that I will make with them after those days, saith the Lord, I will put my laws into their hearts, and in their minds will I write them;....

The New Covenant opens the door for those who are seeking the City of God. Through it came the ongoing presence of the Comforter, or Counselor, who leads and guides us into all truth and understanding. He is writing His law, according to His will, plan and purposes, in our hearts. Through this leading we will enter the Kingdom and regain the dominion lost in the first Adam.

The Heroes of Faith

What are some of the outworkings of faith? Through it, we obtain insight into the purposes of God not into the things of this world. Anyone who has grabbed hold of this assured expectation should understand this. Faith comes through Jesus Christ exclusively to help us grasp the things that belong to the saints (the sons of God).

Israel as a people and as a nation needed spiritual insight and courage. They possessed physical courage but sadly lacked spiritual courage. They advanced as a nation because God elected certain individuals of spiritual courage to lead them. It is unfortunate that our Memorial Day is not dedicated to recognizing early Israelite leaders of faith. Hebrews 11 provides some fine examples of heroes who possessed spiritual insight and courage:

Hebrews 11:32-40

³²And what shall I more say? for the time would fail me to tell of Gedeon, and of Barak, and of Samson, and of Jephthae; of David also, and Samuel, and of the prophets: ³³Who through faith subdued kingdoms, wrought righteousness, obtained promises, stopped the mouths of lions, ³⁴Quenched the violence of fire, escaped the edge of the sword, out of weakness were made strong, waxed valiant in fight, turned to fight the armies of the aliens. ³⁵Women received their dead raised to life again: and others were tortured, not accepting deliverance; that they might obtain a better resurrection: ³⁶And others had trial of cruel mockings and scourgings, yea, moreover of bonds and imprisonment: ³⁷They were stoned, they were sawn asunder, were tempted, were slain with the sword: they wandered about in sheepskins and goatskins; being destitute, afflicted, tormented; ³⁸(Of whom the world was not worthy:) they wandered in deserts, and in mountains, and in dens and caves of the earth. ³⁹And these all, having obtained a good report through faith, received not the promise: ⁴⁰God having provided some better thing for us, that they without us should not be made perfect.

I love these passages because they inspire me, and they should inspire each of you as well. These are our people, people of our faith that accomplished great things for God. When we accomplish great things for the world, it can produce a worldly form of praise, an award, statue, or idol that does not give Jesus Christ the glory. You might even become a celebrity. However, if you do something great for God today, how will you be treated? The world views you as a threat to its security, its programs and plans, and they treat you as an anathema. That is why it is so important to read these verses over and over again so that we are encouraged to become faithful sons of God for His Kingdom. This is the big picture. Our Biblical heroes were living a life that would prepare them to enter that better country, that better land where Israel would be restored as a nation. Our people today have no knowledge or understanding of their coming destiny because they have followed the way of the humanistic socialistic flesh satisfying philosophies.

These people of “the faith” were all Hebrew Israelites who are being fed “New Covenant” understanding (Hebrews 8:8-10). They were not Mongolians, Indians, Negroid, or Edomites. Their identity is very important for us to recognize if we are to understand Hebrews 11. The faith of our Hebrew forefathers and foremothers is the faith that guided and upheld them. It is the same faith that should guide us and that we should pass on to our children and our children’s children as a memorial. However, we have failed our children and our children’s children. We have not passed on the faith of our Christian forefathers. We allow our adversaries to distort truth, alter history, and denigrate our Christian Hebrew heritage while they exalt the heathen and the deceivers.

If you take a stand for righteousness, if you speak out against homosexuals or abortion, or if you speak up for prayer in our schools or in support of displaying the Ten Commandments, you will either be maligned publicly or treated as a danger to society. Former President Bill Clinton was proud that he had appointed over 159 homosexuals to important governmental positions, Obama has gone beyond Clinton, but when a person takes a stand for righteousness, what is the reaction of the government and the media? You cannot see a movie or TV show today that does not glorify fornication, adultery, homosexuality, or miscegenation, all forms of racial adulteration.

By failing to emulate our faithful heroes and receding into the safety of the church walls, Christian leadership has betrayed their congregations and left them subject to the lusts of the flesh. Rather than leading an army of faithful heroes for Christ and His Way, they have become like Aaron who helped the Israelites build their golden calf.

If we truly desire to take a righteous stand as our heroes of faith did, we are talking about acting upon the leading of the Holy Spirit and acting upon our assured expectations. When we put our faith to proper use, we will see our enemies lose power “... because greater is he that is in you, than he that is in the world.” We are not going to overcome the enemy by using physical weapons. That does not mean that we are not to act physically because we are physical beings, but it means that physical beings must act within the eternal purposes of the Holy Spirit.

Overcoming the Flesh

We all have feelings of hate and bitterness about what has happened and is happening to our people. But we must learn to overcome our carnal anger or we become impotent in His greater plan. We become as the world and no better than they are. Our adversaries have vilified our heritage and our culture, and they are trying to wipe out the body of Christ by infiltrating the churches and bringing these problems into the churches. The endorsement of sodomite ministers by mainstream churches is alarming proof of this conclusion.

We need to have a vision, a Kingdom vision. It will require a lot of wisdom and insight. We need to pull our resources together and learn to overcome differences among ourselves and work together as one unit. We need to practice respect for our elders. The elders are not perfect, but when members have differences, they appeal to the elders, and ask for a judgment from them. When the judgment is rendered, both parties abide by that decision. There is no complaining or whining. You put your faith in God and abide by the decision. But we need elders of “the Faith,” elders who do not hide their Biblical faith.

As an example, there was recently a land dispute among some brothers. The brothers went to several elders in the Anglo-Israel Church community and agreed to abide by the decision of these elders. The elders looked over the documents, heard all of the arguments, and rendered a decision. One of the brothers in the dispute did not agree with the decision of the elders and refused to abide by it. So the dispute was stuck in limbo.

If a person has agreed to place himself under the jurisdiction of a church, then by his own word he has agreed to abide by its authority. If he gets into a dispute with a brother, then he must abide by the authority and decision of the elders. If he does not, then he is in rebellion against the authority that Christ has given the church and its tribunal. What kind of a person does he shown himself to be if he behaves in this rebellious manner? He should be “excommunicated” from the church until he repents before the body. Christians should have order and that order must be respected as a condition of membership in the body. To rebel is to display a lack of faith in Christ who is Head of the church.

The Bible does not promise the body of Christ that everything will go its way or that everything will be perfect for every person who becomes a member in the body. We are going to have problems and disputes, but let us be mature Christians about it. If a judgment goes against you, put your trust in Yahweh that He will take care of you. He may even open your eyes to your possible error, but trust Him. If you abide by the decision, you have taken a big step of faith in overcoming your fleshly carnal desires. Even if you are wrongly accused and convicted, Yahweh will make it right if you are patient and wait on Him. Put your faith, your assured expectation, in Him. Remember Abraham had to wait a long time for Isaac. He was still waiting for that country, that city on a hill, when he died, but he knew that God would bring it about eventually. His faith carried him through. Put yourself in the place of Daniel, David, or Joseph and ask, "What would I do in these circumstances?" Would you be faithful or would you grumble and rail against God?

Babylon reigns over us today because God has brought judgment against us for our worship of idols and our lawlessness. We are told to live under Babylon and do the best we can. We have been taken to the woodshed, and we had better not run from the judgment. This does not mean that as a member of the body we cannot petition Yahweh if we think that we are being treated unjustly. We can ask Him to handle the matter. However, Yahweh may respond with, "You do not understand, this is the judgment that I have placed upon you for My reasons." We should not whine if we do not get the answer that we think we deserve. The judgment is not going to go away just because we feel sorry for ourselves. There is not a criminal out there, who upon being caught, does not feel sorry for himself. Most lawless people are sorry they are caught not for what they have done.

We must repent of our rebellion, our carnal lusts, and our unforgiving attitudes. Read again of the attitudes and actions of the faithful heroes in Hebrews 11. Pray earnestly for the strength of faith, the assured expectation, and the spiritual courage of our forefathers and foremothers. Remember that the City of the Living God awaits each of us who possess that faith.

This is Canada's Top Ten List of America's Stupidity

10) Only in America...could politicians talk about the greed of the rich at a $35,000.00 per plate campaign fund-raising event.

9) Only in America ...could people claim that the government still discriminates against black Americans when they have a black President, a black Attorney General and roughly 20% of the federal workforce is black while only 14% of the population is black 40% of all federal entitlements goes to black Americans - 3X the rate that go to whites, 5X the rate that go to Hispanics!

8) Only in America...could they have had the two people most responsible for our tax code, Timothy Geithner (the head of the Treasury Department) and Charles Rangel (who once ran the Ways and Means Committee), BOTH turn out to be tax cheats who are in favor of higher taxes.

7) Only in America...can they have terrorists kill people in the name of Allah and have the media primarily react by fretting that Muslims might be harmed by the backlash.

6) Only in America...would they make people who want to legally become American citizens wait for years in their home countries and pay tens of thousands of dollars for the privilege, while they discuss letting anyone who sneaks into the country illegally just 'magically' become American citizens (probably should be number one).

5) Only in America....could the people who believe in balancing the budget and sticking by the country's Constitution be thought of as "extremists."

4) Only in America...could you need to present a driver's license to cash a check or buy alcohol, but not to vote.

3) Only in America...could people demand the government investigate whether oil companies are gouging the public because the price of gas went up when the return on equity invested in a major U.S. Oil company(Marathon Oil) is less than half of a company making tennis shoes (Nike).

2) Only in America....could the government collect more tax dollars from the people than any nation in recorded history, still spend a Trillion dollars more than it has per year - for total spending of $7-Million PER MINUTE, and complain that it doesn't have nearly enough money.

1) Only in America...could the rich people - who pay 86% of all income taxes - be accused of not paying their "fair share" by people who don't pay any income taxes at all.

I Hate to Say I Told You So

By Michael Brown

For years I've been sounding the alarm about an impending social, cultural and spiritual crisis, and for years critics have compared me to Chicken Little, discounting my warnings as the ravings of a hysterical, religious fundamentalist. Well, it's a little late for that now.

Ten years ago, I charted this progression and made this prediction:

- o First, gay activists came out of the closet.
- o Second, they demanded their "rights."

- o Third, they demanded that everyone recognize those “rights.”
- o Fourth, they want to strip away the rights of those who oppose them.
- o Fifth, they want to put those who oppose their “rights” into the closet.
- o From here on, embracing diversity refers to embracing all kinds of sexual orientation, (homo) sexual expression and gender identification but rejects every kind of religious or moral conviction that does not embrace these orientations, expressions and identifications.
- o From here on, hate refers to any attitude, thought or word that differs with the gay agenda, while gays are virtually exempt from the charge of hate speech—no matter how vile and incendiary the rhetoric—since they are always the (perceived) victims and never the victimizers.
- o Children in elementary schools will be exposed to the rightness and complete normality of homosexuality, bisexuality and transgender expression, and opposing views will be branded as dangerous and homophobic, to be silenced and excluded from the classroom.

Initially, I was met with scorn and derision: “No one wants to put you in the closet!” The last few years, the tone has changed to “Bigots like you belong in the closet!”

I hate to say it, but I told you so.

After the forced resignation of Mozilla CEO Brendan Eich, the influential gay blogger Andrew Sullivan wrote, “The whole episode disgusts me—as it should disgust anyone interested in a tolerant and diverse society. If this is the gay rights movement today—hounding our opponents with a fanaticism more like the religious right than anyone else—then count me out.” Not long after, the ultraliberal Bill Maher said on Real Time, “I think there is a gay mafia. I think if you cross them, you do get whacked."

This echoes comments made years earlier by lesbian journalist and author Camille Paglia in her book Vamps and Tramps. "One reason I so dislike recent gay activism," she wrote, "is that my self-identification as a lesbian preceded Stonewall: I was the only openly gay person at the Yale Graduate School (1968-72), a candor that was professionally costly. That anyone with my aggressive and scandalous history could be called 'homophobic,' as has repeatedly been done, shows just how insanely Stalinist gay activism has become."

Stalinist? Was she overstating her case?

In my 2011 book A Queer Thing Happened to America, I noted, "It would appear, then, that 'civil rights' for some means 'limited rights' for others, and that by specific design. As stated explicitly in a teacher's lesson aid published by the Gay and Lesbian Educators [GALE] of British Columbia: 'We must dishonour the prevailing belief that heterosexuality is the only acceptable orientation even though that would mean dishonouring the religious beliefs of Christians, Jews, Muslims, etc.'"

In that same book, I explained what was already here and what was on the immediate horizon, including this:

- o From here on, tolerance refers to the complete acceptance of LGBT lifestyles and ideology—in the family, in the workplace, in education, in media, in religion—while at the same time refusing to tolerate any view that is contrary.
- o From here on, inclusion refers to working with, supporting, sponsoring and encouraging gay events and gay goals while at the same time systematically refusing to work with and excluding anyone who is not in harmony with these events and goals.

What exactly would this look like? Again, here is what I wrote in 2011:

- o Middle schools, high schools and colleges will go out of their way to encourage both the celebration of homosexuality and deep solidarity with gay activism.
- o The federal and state governments will legalize same-sex marriages, meaning that all heterosexuals must accept the legality of these marriages and that anyone refusing to do so could be prosecuted for discriminatory behavior.
- o Corporate America will embrace every aspect of nonheterosexuality (including bisexuality, transgender and beyond), calling for the dismissal of those who refuse to follow suit, and religious groups will no longer be allowed to view homosexual practice as immoral, branding such opposition as “hate speech.”

Yes, all this was written before the Mozilla debacle (which was justified, absurdly, in the name of being “inclusive, safe, and welcoming to all”); before the Walt Disney Corporation gave the Boy Scouts of America an ultimatum that they had to accept openly homosexual Scout leaders or lose Disney’s financial support; before the Girl Scouts announced that boys who identify and present themselves as girls can join their Scouting clubs; before Pastor Louie Giglio was disinvited from praying at President Obama’s second inauguration because he preached a biblical message on homosexuality more than 15 years ago; before the Supreme Court overturned the Defense of Marriage Act and the military overturned “don’t ask, don’t tell”; before the passing of ridiculous bills like California’s SB 777 (mandating the celebration of LGBT American history for all classes, K-12) and AB 1266 (allowing students to choose the bathroom of their personal gender identification as well as play on the sports team of their choice, using that locker room as well, resulting already in a 17-year-old boy playing on the girls’ softball team); before Facebook created the customized gender option with 50 gender choices; before different states banned professional counseling requested by minors with unwanted same-sex attractions; before companies like Sweet Cakes by Melissa were put out of business because they would not participate in same-sex “weddings”; and before Attorney General Eric Holder told state attorneys general that they were not required to uphold and defend laws against same-sex “marriage” if they didn’t want to—just to mention a few.

I hate to say it, but I told you so.

Do you believe me now? And would you like to know what is coming next and what we can do about it? And would you like to know why I am convinced that, ultimately, the gay revolution will fail? Stay tuned for more. I’m glad I have your ear.

University Calls the Amount of White People on Campus a ‘Failure,’ Asks for Ideas on How to Have Fewer

Kaitlyn Schallhorn Reporter

WWU's marketing department asks

"How do we make sure that in future years 'we are not as white as we are today?'"

- This question has been posed several times already by University President Bruce Shepard.
- President Shepard equates a "white" student body and faculty to "failure."

The question, released through the communications and marketing department's daily newsletter Western Today, comes on the heels of admonishments given in multiple convocation addresses by WWU President Bruce Shepard for the university’s “failure” to be less white.

"In the decades ahead, should we be as white as we are today, we will be relentlessly driven toward mediocrity; or, become a sad shadow of our current self." Tweet This

"Every year, from this stage and at this time, you have heard me say that, if in decades ahead, we are as white as we are today, we will have failed as university," Shepard said in the 2012 speech. And in a recent blog post on WWU's website, Shepard echoes these sentiments, saying those who do not agree "have not thought through the implications of what is ahead for us or, more perniciously, assume we can continue unchanged."

Fullness of the Times

By J. Richard Niemela
Col. USAF (Ret)

Recall that the term "fullness of the times" appears a number of times in the NT...In Galatians 4:4, we find this issue addressed:

"But when the fullness of the time was come, God sent forth His Son, made of a woman, made under the law."

Let's consider what it has to say, and apply the "time" to just before Jesus comes the first time. Rome is in total control of the known world. Its coinage, language, political policies, and its armies, (mostly mercenaries) rule the world as it was then understood. Forcing their neighbors and other nations into a subservience to Rome...but internally, the corruption and deceit was cloaked by a city that was inundated with luxury drained from their conquests, games and other entertainments were the thing, and food was always available to those who lived off the "federal" money spread about amongst the bureaucratic nobility. Which then trickled bits and pieces down to the many citizens who did vote but only as instructed, so as to keep things going as they had been.

So this first “fullness of the time” was well represented by the lifestyle of Rome and its pagan citizens that had no religion. Other than pagan, idol worship, but no recognition that God was Master of all.

It was into this conglomeration of Roman luxury and world-wide dominion that God chose to send in His Redeemer to salvage those Adamites/Israelites who were so often designated biblically as His Chosen. The redemption being necessary since the times were such that the original issues of the Bible, God’s laws and instructions on how to live, all biblically noted, had been practically abandoned entirely, but, for the Israelites, where the Bible Ordinances levied on them when gathered at Mt. Sinai were so rigid and restrictive that His return was to do away with them. The Hebrew/Israelites simply could not meet the rigidity and strictness of their demands, thus failing in their worship practices...but, then these Ordinances were but a foreshadowing of His eventual coming, and this time was when Rome was probably at its peak of power and dominion—in all fields.

So, we can see Why He came when He did, as the known world was in desperate need of His salvation and the restoration of the status of His Chosen sheep, the lost sheep of the house of Israel to whom He stated that He was Only sent, (Matthew 15:24) and those to whom He directed His disciples to Only Go! (Matthew 10:6)

Now, having established the issues which led to the first time use of the “Fullness of the time”, we find Paul speaking in Romans 11:25 about another reference to a “fullness of (time) of the Gentiles”, or more properly, “Nations” be come in. In this verse, Paul is addressing the Roman citizens whom he knew to be former Israelites, only blinded to this fact. Here are Paul’s comments;

“For I would not, brethren, that ye should be ignorant of this mystery, lest ye should be wise in your own conceits; that blindness in part has happened to Israel until the fullness of the Gentiles be come in.”

What Paul is advising his “brethren”: he being of the tribe of Benjamin, was kin to these Romans whom Paul well understood were gentiles, but in reality, were and still were, Israelites as well. This is the “mystery” to which Paul refers, and the reference to conceit, stems from the fact that had they known and understood over history as to Who they had been and still were, His true Chosen; conceit would have developed amongst them, detrimental to their future....

Note however the loophole of sorts that stems from the words, blindness in part: it recognizes that some did know who they were and were not as blind to this truth as most. And then consider this: that blindness is attached to one nation, a nation composed of many tribes/nations, ISRAEL, all 12 Tribes, of which these Romans were but a small part.

Then in the very next verse, 26, note that this Coming in this ‘second’ fullness of the time, restores those same tribes/nations to favor, as Paul notes that then, “All Israel shall be saved” (1) —when “the Deliverer shall turn away the unGodliness of Jacob”—Israel being identified here, as Jacob, since today’s progeny of Jacob are so identified, not having gone through their own “wrestling” as did Jacob, who then was re-named Israel...as will the modern elements of Jacob when the time concludes and the restoration of Israel is established.

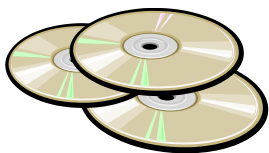

So it appears that there is a parallel between both “fullness of the time” biblical references since what we know to be occurring in the world today, with America acting and existing and performing just as the Romans had done so long ago

- (1) Israel is an established entity, then and yet today, not something to be “spiritualized” away as we find so many Fundamentalists doing today, Gentile Israelites, still “blinded in part” to the truth of their identity and status.....
